Hyrum H. Kimball Laid To Rest

NEWS NOTES

Hyrum Kimball, aged 89, who passed away at his home last Friday afternoon, was laid to rest in the local cemetery Tuesday afternoon, after services in the 2nd Ward Chapel. Bishop Palmer conducted the service, and Jos. McLean conducted the choir with Mrs. Emma Dahl at the organ. A large number of friends of deceased and family were present to pay their respects, and a lovely array of flowers covered the rostrum and the pearl gray casket. Pall bearers were I. B. Roberts, Jas. E. Meeks, C. B. Smith, A. E. Hancock, D. C. Redebach and S. I. May.

The opening song was "Oh My Father" followed by prayer by Elder Jas. S. Anderson, and then Jos. McLean sang "Goin' Home."

Elders J. W. Evans former Bishop of the Raymond 2nd Ward was the first speaker and said he desired to pay a tribute of respect to one of God's sons who had completed a life of service. He had known deceased since 1903, when they were associated a great deal with Hyrum Kimball acting as supervisor in beet thinning. Deceased was a great one to help, and always taught by example rather than precept. Deceased had been caretaker of the 2nd Ward Church for many years and had taken a deep pride in his work, making the building a credit to him. He was the son of Heber C. Kimball an early leader of the Mormon Church and a companion of the Prophet Joseph Smith and Brigham Young, and deceased was justly proud of his father and mother. He praised John for the care and attention he had shown his aged father in his last illness.

The Bennett Sisters and Mrs. Scott Salmon sang "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Elder Jas. H. Walker, former Bishop of the Ward felt honored to be asked to speak at the funeral. Order was the first law of heaven, and deceased was a man of order, and took great pride in anything he had to do, and was always orderly about it. He told of his experience in getting deceased as caretaker of the Church, and of how particular he had been in his work, always doing his work in the season thereof. He had raised a fine family, and had the love and respect of everyone of them, he was a man of very keen intellect and had a thorough understanding of the principles of the Gospel.

Bishop Palmer voiced his appreciation of deceased as a member of the ward, and of the labors of the members of the family in the ward, and on Brownie Witbeck was home on leave over the week-end.

Bus Murdoch of the RCAF stationed at Macleod spent the week-end in Raymond with his wife and small son.

Another shower this afternoon, real heavy for a few minutes, freshened things up once again.

Sunday evening services in both wards were under the direction of the Sunday Schools and the numbers honored the General Superintendents of the L.D.S. Sabbath Schools from Richard Ballantyne to the present. A very enjoyable evening is reported from both wards.

Local Crop Report

As this is written the sun is shining nice and warm, and crops and gardens are growing very rapidly. Heavy showers Sunday afternoon and Monday, which brought 1.50 inches of rain to the town and a small area adjoining, has made moist conditions over this area almost ideal. Over the rest of the district crops are doing alright, but rain would be welcome, and it has become necessary in places to irrigate to maintain growth.

Grain crops are doing nicely, although somewhat backward. Beets are making steady growth and fields look good. Mechanical blockers have been tried on a number of fields with good results, especially in fields where segmented seed was used. The labor situation is still a problem, but war prisoners from the Lethbridge camp have helped out in a number of cases with generally satisfactory results. Gardens are doing very well, but warm weather is needed to hasten growth as planting was somewhat delayed and the season to date has been backward.

behalf of the family thanked all who had in any way assisted during the illness and death of Bro. Kimball.

The closing hymn was "Nearer My God to Thee" and benediction was offered by W. A. Heninger of the Bishopric.

A good cortege followed the remains to the cemetery where interment was made, the grave being dedicated by Elder Kenneth Knight.

Air Cadets Promoted In Fitting Ceremony

With C.O. Kitchen in charge and assisted by his local officers, the local Air Cadet Squadron, No. 110 were inspected by Pilot Officer Fisk, of Lethbridge who was accompanied by "Flt. Sergt. Seales. Quite an audience of parents and others was present to witness the review and see the presentation of the awards to some of the boys.

Held Thursday afternoon, it was the final parade of the present year and the Cadets all received high praise for their work of the past year. Special awards were given the following for their achievements during the year.

Highest Efficiency in 2nd year: Cadets Jas. Hudson and H. G. "Bud" Palmer.

Efficiency in 1st year: M. G. Summers.

Leading Air Cadet Award: Garth Harker, Robert Holmes, David Wing and Tenny Smith.

Pantalleria Island Surrenders

Pantalleria, Italy's island fortress in the Mediterranean Sea, surrendered to the Allies just before noon Friday, marking the first case in world history where a fortress surrendered to air bombardment. 13,000 soldiers in the Italian garrison gave up when a landing party came ashore.

During the past few days

Allied bombers had dropped 32,000,000 pounds of bombs on the island and had its defences pulverized when the garrison gave up. This island will make a very convenient refuelling station for Allied bombers, as well as being a spring board for future attacks on mainland fortifications.

Boost Our Co-Op

Week by week our local Co-op is becoming better known. As a Raymond citizen are you doing all you can to boost this industry? Are you taking your eggs there? If you have a little surplus milk each day, is it going there? Are you eating plenty of cheese? And when you order cheese are you specifying "Raymond" cheese?

We ought to lend every effort to our baby industry. It has been established to provide a home market for milk and eggs, and to pay the highest possible prices for these products. When you use Raymond cheese and use more of it you are aiding in keeping up milk prices. When you bring your eggs to the Co-op, you are assisting us in lowering the per dozen charges in handling and enabling the staff to render better service in this department. You may be one of those who feel that they owe the Co-op nothing and have no responsibility to it. That is your own business. One thing however remains. We are all interested in Raymond and her industries. We want public improvements. We want more and better businesses. We want surfaced roads, boulevard streets, a drainage system, a better water system, more and better lines and so on. Everly added industry that creates labor, that puts additional money into circulation, that provides a market for services and products that we can all produce, is contributing either directly or indirectly to the achievement of these aims. When we build local industries, we are building dozen changes in handling and Raymond. Let's all boost all we possibly can.

Army University Course

TORONTO, June 10.—The 1st Canadian Army University Course at Toronto, University is described as being "like a wartime Royal Military College." The 33-weeks course, just completed, was so successful that 11 other Canadian universities will give similar courses during the 1943-44 term. Total attendance is limited to 1,270.

Members of the Active Army and high school students between the ages of 17 and 20, with matriculation qualifications and "A" medical categories, are eligible to take the course. They should apply at once to the university they wish to attend, and must enlist in the Active Army before Aug. 1. The qualifications are similar to those for entrance to the Royal Military College in peacetime.

Students are housed in University residences and wear regular Army uniforms with flashes with "Army University Course" in white lettering. They receive boy's pay up to the age of 17½ years and regular Army pay after attaining that age. All books and university supplies are provided free of charge.

The students are given credit for their term's work if they wish to enter the university later. They learn surveying, geometry, mathematics, electricity, draughting, engines and more. Graduates will go to specialized branches of the Army—engineers, artillery, armoured corps, infantry, ordnance and signals, to fill the ever-increasing need for trained men in an ever-more mechanized Army.

Pte. Allan Knox, of Toronto, who had completed his first year in mechanical engineering before taking the Army course, at the University of Toronto said the new course would equal a year and a half of regular university work. Sgt. W.L. Waylett, of Toronto, who had completed a year of finance and commerce before enlisting, added, "We get instruction in essential things. All the frills have been removed. It is easy to realize that everything we are taught will be of great value to us as we go on in the Army."

SUGAR CITY M. D. MEETING

The regular meeting of the Council of Sugar City M.D. was held Tuesday afternoon with most of the time being devoted to routine business. The minutes of the last meeting were approved and the payroll for the month passed and ordered paid.

A by-law was passed providing for a personal property tax over the district for both School and Municipal purposes. A new stray pound law was drafted, excluding the ridge country from the pound area.

The Departmental letter was read incorporating Local Improvement District 38 into the Sugar City Municipal District as petitioned by the residents of that area.

Can Some Fruit Without Sugar

With the present allowance of ten lbs. sugar per person for canning, homemakers will be interested in the following suggestions by Miss Vera Richards of the Extension Service, on canning without sugar.

Although the shape, colour and flavour of fruits are retained better when sugar is added says Miss Richards, fruits may be canned quite safely without sugar. Fruits for pie-making or for use in diabetic diets are commonly canned in this way. Juicy fruits such as berries, cherries, currants and plums should be canned in their own juices when sugar is omitted. Water is not required. The juice should be extracted from the riper fruits by crushing, and this followed by heating and straining. The remaining fruit is packed closely into the jars without preheating, and boiling hot juices added to cover. Then seal and process.

The less juicy fruits such as apples, peaches and pears require the addition of water. Only the smallest quantities of water necessary should be used. The general directions for canning should be followed substituting water for syrup. Five minutes should be added to the usual processing time. Before Ernie McFarland of Lethbridge was the Rotary speaker on Monday when he spoke respecting the Stamp Contest in schools carried on in some districts. Because of the response of our local Public School, through the efforts of Principal J. O. Hicken to the War Savings Stamp Sale, Ernie was invited out to explain the contest as it was operated in Lethbridge, and as it might be carried on in schools in our district.

In Lethbridge, photos had been provided in each room in some schools, and for each school in other cases, and then a special photo was circulated from room to room, whichever one led in stamp sales per capita for a given period, a week, or a month, or whatever was decided on. Then as a climax to a competition for a year, or a term, whatever was arranged, a plane dropped a flag on the grounds of the winning school as a mark of achievement.

These were only suggestions of what might be worked out. The community service committee of the local Rotary Club was charged with the responsibility of working out some plan for inauguration at the commencement of the fall term of school. Ernie was given a hearty vote of thanks for his interesting and informative address.

"FATS" MATINEE AT CAPITOL VERY SUCCESSFUL

The "Fats" matinee which was held last Saturday morning at the Capitol was very well attended and the amount of "Fats" totalled about 500 lbs. The program which was arranged by Mr. Brewster was an ideal one consisting of a Roy Rogers feature with cartoons, and a Stogie comedy. These "Fats" were turned over to the Salvage Department at Lethbridge for their disposition.

ONE WAR

Editorial from the New York
Times May 23, 1943

In his magnificent speech last week before the American Congress, Mr. Winston Churchill again clarified in a most impressive manner what the complexities of global warfare tend to obscure—namely, that as far as the British Empire and the United States are concerned the war in Europe and the war in Asia are one and the same war and must be fought as such in conformity with sound military strategy. This strategy calls for the greatest possible concentration of strength at the point where it will be most effective at the time without exposing other points to such irreparable damage as might spell ultimate defeat. And the point of utmost concentration for the present, Mr. Churchill reiterated, must be Europe, where the chances of decisive victories in the not too distant future have grown so bright after Stalingrad and Tunisia and the devastating air raids over Axis Europe.

This does not mean that the war in Asia must be neglected. On the contrary, Mr. Churchill also indicated that the victory in Tunisia, which opened up the Mediterranean and Sicily, was a preliminary not only to an intensification of the war in Europe, but also to an intensification of the war against Japan, which includes increased aid to China. To dispel agitation in this country for a switch of the main war effort from Europe to the Far East, he pointed ed with all the solemnity at his disposal that "while there is breath in our bodies and while blood flows through our veins," the British Empire will wage relentless war against Japan side by side with the United States, and that British fliers will join their American comrades in laying Japanese industrial centers and munition factories in dust and ashes.

Mr. Churchill spoke after a week of conferences between himself and his military advisers and President Roosevelt and the American command, and therefore doubtless gave expression to the general trend of the decisions reached in them. We believe that most Americans will approve of these decisions because they are dictated by exigencies by the fact that in Europe, unlike the Far East, Great Britain and the United States are not fighting alone, but have the invaluable aid of Russia, which, as Mr. Churchill said, still bears the brunt of the war on land. More over, the victory in Tunisia and the increasingly devastating effect of the Allied air raids on both Germany and Italy hold out the prospect of early knock-out blows, if not against Germany, then against Italy, which would mark the beginning of the end for Germany as well. Italy has become the weakest spot of the Axis, and to neglect it would be a mistake which would have disastrous military and political consequences. Mr. Churchill's speech is reassurance that no such mistake will be made by the Allies.

In point of fact, the whole agitation for switching the war effort to the Far East is based on that same fatal under-estimation of Japan which led to the military disasters for both Great Britain and the United States. For with all due respect to statements attributed to military commanders in the Far East, it is worse than wishful thinking to assume that either Great Britain or the United States could deflect enough forces and shipping space to the Far East to deal a knockout blow against Japan without causing complete disaster in Europe. And to do anything less would be worse than futile. It would merely divide the Allied forces and invite defeat, or at best produce a stalemate in both theatres of war. Japan must be held at all cost, and in so far as Allied resources permit, bases must be created and roads blasted open in preparation for the day when both America and the British Empire can concentrate all their forces against it. For to defeat Japan will take all that we can give.

At the same time Mr. Churchill also suggested that future Allied operations may to some extent depend on a closer understanding with Russia, both in respect to military planning and to the political and economic forces at work in Europe. In this connection a significant step has just been taken in the recommendation from Moscow that the Communist International be "dissolved" as the "directing center of the international working class movement." This step is unmistakably directed toward meeting the justified criticism of Communist interference in matters of domestic concern to Russia's allies.

All this gives added point to the new invitation issued by Mr. Churchill to Marshal Stalin to meet him and President Roosevelt in conference in order to unify both the strategy and the purposes of the United Nations.

FAT IS AMMUNITION!

Fat and bone conservation begins at home and ends
in the firing line

- DO YOU KNOW -

One pound of fat supplies enough glycerine to fire 150 bullets from a Bren gun.

Two pounds of fat will fire a burst of 20 cannon shells from a Spitfire or 10 anti-aircraft shells.

Bones produce fat and aircraft glue.

If we saved fat at the rate of one ounce per person per week this would mean 36,000,000 pounds per year, enough to produce 3,600,000 pounds of glycerine for explosives.

OUR FIGHTERS DEPEND ON YOU

"Every householder who delivers to a retail butcher, collector, or Salvage Committee, any rendered or unrendered fats or bones shall be entitled to receive from the person to whom they are delivered 4 cents per pound net weight for rendered fats, and 1 cent per pound for unrendered fats."

The above paragraph is a direct quotation from Order A-642 of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"Rendered fat" means fat melted down and strained to remove solid matter. It includes drippings and strained pan grease resulting from the cooking of meat.

"Unrendered fat" means raw or partially cooked fat free from lean meat and bone, but not fully rendered.

"Bones" means raw or cooked bones of cattle, sheep and hogs.

FARM FOR VICTORY

HOW TO REACH ALBERTA'S PORK QUOTA

Labor-saving devices, proper sanitation and sanitation will produce more hogs and more profit.

Alberta's quota for 1943 is 2,700,000 hogs. Southern Alberta farmers are being counted on to supply a larger share than before. At the same time they face an opportunity to produce a product at a profit. Even so statistics show that actual production so far this year is below the estimates and unless sales increase considerably the objective will not be reached.

The failure on the part of farmers to produce as many pigs as they had estimated is undoubtedly due to three factors: Labor shortage, inadequate accommodation, and disease. The difficulties involved in these factors are not insurmountable and Southern Alberta can increase the sale of pigs. The solution to the problem lies in applying labor-saving devices utilizing materials at hand to put up accommodations, and in preventing losses by proper sanitation and feeding. Methods of accomplishing this task are discussed in this and next week's articles.

Labor, a very scarce commodity, must be saved at every possible turn. Good equipment, handy devices, and convenient arrangement can replace manpower. The writer in travelling over Alberta in the last year has been some outstanding examples of the replacement of man labor by inexpensive home-made equipment. One farmer in central Alberta had 236 cattle in feed-lot. Along with the other farm jobs he handled these cattle without any hired labor and found time to act as chairman on several community committees. There was no daily carrying or hauling of feed and water. A large home-built feeder was filled in the fall by a hammer mill with a sufficient supply to last until March. Hay was stacked inside poles down the middle of the yard and water was always accessible in a heated tank supplied by a pump engine. There are many Alberta farmers who are increasing production in the face of decreased labor by planning their work and using simple but ingenious methods.

One of the greatest time consumers in hog raising is hand feeding and watering. The consumption of hours of tedious work carrying feed to pigs in pails can be overcome by using self-feeders large enough to hold a week's or a month's supply. One type of feeder which has proven very useful can be made from an old portable granary. Crib walls are placed inside to allow the pigs to enter the granary and feed from the lower edge of the hopper formed by the crib wall. Enough chop can be placed inside to supply feeder pigs for months. It has the added advantage of furnishing shelter from winter weather while the pigs are eating. Such a feeder fits into a scheme of straw shed sheltering. The hopper can be removed from within and the granary used again in the fall for grain storage.

Self watering devices attached to tanks equipped with heaters are furnishing a constant supply of water summer and winter in many hog lots. Plans for various feeders and other equipment is now available.

A series of field days for demonstrating labor-saving equipment is planned for Southern Alberta. If you are interested in one in your community write to the district agriculturist. If you have a place that would be suitable for a swine production or a farm machinery field day, your district agriculturist would Forms may be secured from your local Post Office or District Inspector of Income Tax.

To help you fill out your Income Tax forms a booklet ("Farmers' Income Tax Guide, 1942") has been prepared to cover the special conditions which apply to farm operations.
